Nara Institute of Science and Technology (NAIST),

A large portion of the dictionary entries originate from ICOT Free Software. The following conditions for ICOT Free Software applies to the current dictionary as well.

Each User may also freely distribute the Program, whether in its original form or modified, to any third party or parties, PROVIDED that the provisions of Section 3 ("NO WARRANTY") will ALWAYS appear on, or be attached to, the Program, which is distributed substantially in the same form as set out herein and that such intended distribution, if actually made, will neither violate or otherwise contravene any of the laws and regulations of the countries having jurisdiction over the User or the intended distribution itself.

NO WARRANTY

The program was produced on an experimental basis in the course of the research and development conducted during the project and is provided to users as so produced on an experimental basis. Accordingly, the program is provided without any warranty whatsoever, whether express, implied, statutory or otherwise. The term "warranty" used herein includes, but is not limited to, any warranty of the quality, performance, merchantability and fitness for a particular purpose of the program and the nonexistence of any infringement or violation of any right of any third party.

Each user of the program will agree and understand, and be deemed to have agreed and understood, that there is no warranty whatsoever for the program and, accordingly, the entire risk arising from or otherwise connected with the program is assumed by the user.

Therefore, neither ICOT, the copyright holder, or any other organization that participated in or was otherwise related to the development of the program and their respective officials, directors, officers and other employees shall be held liable for any and all damages, including, without limitation, general, special, incidental and consequential damages, arising out of or otherwise in connection with the use or inability to use the program or any product, material or result produced or otherwise obtained by using the program, regardless of whether they have been advised of, or otherwise had knowledge of, the possibility of such damages at any time during the project or thereafter. Each user will be deemed to have agreed to the foregoing by his or her commencement of use of the program. The term use as used herein includes, but is not limited to, the use, modification, copying and distribution of the program and the production of secondary products from the program.

In the case where the program, whether in its original form or modified, was distributed or delivered to or received by a user from any person, organization or entity other than ICOT, unless it makes or grants independently of ICOT any specific warranty to the user in writing, such person, organization or entity, will also be exempted from and not be held liable to the user for any such damages as noted above as far as the program is concerned.

This code is a contribution of Google code, and the style used here is a compromise between the original Google code and the ICU coding guidelines. For example, data types are ICU-ified (`size_t`, `int->int32_t`), and API comments doxygen-ified, but function names and behavior are as in the original, if possible. Assertion-style error handling, not available in ICU, was changed to parameter "pinning" similar to `UnicodeString`.

In addition, this is only a partial port of the original Google code, limited to what was needed so far. The (nearly) complete original code is in the ICU svn repository at `icuhtml/trunk/design/strings/contrib` (see ICU ticket 6765, r25517).

assume Autoconf 2.64, with its improved AC_DEFUN_ONCE and M4sh Initialization.

See the end for copying conditions.

Version 2.0.5 (released 2018-05-18)

Switched the default library behavior to IDNA2008 as amended by TR#46 (non-transitional). That default behavior is enabled when no flags are specified to function calls. Applications can utilize the %IDN2_NO_TR46 flag to switch to the unamended IDNA2008. This is done in the interest of interoperability based on the fact that this is what application writers care about rather than strict compliance with a particular protocol.

Fixed memleak in idn2_to_unicode_8zlz().

Return error (IDN2_ICONV_FAIL) on charset conversion errors.

Fixed issue with STD3 rules applying in non-transitional TR46 mode.

idn2 added option --usestd3asciirules.

Version 2.0.4 (released 2017-08-30)

Fix integer overflow in bidi.c/_isBidi()

Fix integer overflow in puny_decode.c/decode_digit()

Improve docs

Fix idna_free() to idn_free()

Update fuzzer corpora

Version 2.0.3 (released 2017-07-24) [beta]

%IDN2_USE_STD3_ASCII_RULES disabled by default.

For conditions of distribution and use, see the accompanying README.ijg file.

This file contains routines to read input images in Microsoft "BMP" format (MS Windows 3.x, OS/2 1.x, and OS/2 2.x flavors).
Currently, only 8-bit and 24-bit images are supported, not 1-bit or 4-bit (feeding such low-depth images into JPEG would be silly anyway).
Also, we don't support RLE-compressed files.

These routines may need modification for non-Unix environments or specialized applications. As they stand, they assume input from an ordinary stdio stream. They further assume that reading begins at the start of the file; start_input may need work if the user interface has already read some data (e.g., to determine that the file is indeed BMP format).

It was modified by The libjpeg-turbo Project to include only code relevant to libjpeg-turbo.

For conditions of distribution and use, see the accompanying README.ijg file.

This file contains common support routines used by the IJG application programs (cjpeg, djpeg, jpegtran).

For conditions of distribution and use, see the accompanying README.ijg file.

This file contains a command-line user interface for the JPEG decompressor. It should work on any system with Unix- or MS-DOS-style command lines.

Two different command line styles are permitted, depending on the compile-time switch `TWO_FILE_COMMANDLINE`

djpeg [options] inputfile outputfile
djpeg [options] [inputfile]

In the second style, output is always to standard output, which you'd normally redirect to a file or pipe to some other program. Input is either from a named file or from standard input (typically redirected). The second style is convenient on Unix but is unhelpful on systems that don't support pipes. Also, you MUST use the first style if your system doesn't do binary I/O to stdin/stdout.

To simplify script writing, the "-outfile" switch is provided. The syntax

djpeg [options] -outfile outputfile inputfile

This file contains code for merged upsampling/color conversion.

This file combines functions from jdsample.c and jdcolor.c;
read those files first to understand what's going on.

When the chroma components are to be upsampled by simple replication (ie, box filtering), we can save some work in color conversion by calculating all the output pixels corresponding to a pair of chroma samples at one time. In the conversion equations

$$R = Y + K1 * Cr$$

$$G = Y + K2 * Cb + K3 * Cr$$

$$B = Y + K4 * Cb$$

only the Y term varies among the group of pixels corresponding to a pair of chroma samples, so the rest of the terms can be calculated just once. At typical sampling ratios, this eliminates half or three-quarters of the multiplications needed for color conversion.

This file currently provides implementations for the following cases:

YCbCr => RGB color conversion only.

Sampling ratios of 2h1v or 2h2v.

No scaling needed at upsample time.

Corner-aligned (non-CCIR601) sampling alignment.

Other special cases could be added, but in most applications these are the only common cases. (For uncommon cases we fall back on the more general code in jdsample.c and jdcolor.c.)

This file contains the decompression postprocessing controller.

This controller manages the upsampling, color conversion, and color quantization/reduction steps; specifically, it controls the buffering between upsample/color conversion and color quantization/reduction.

If no color quantization/reduction is required, then this module has no work to do, and it just hands off to the upsample/color conversion code. An integrated upsample/convert/quantize process would replace this module entirely.

This file contains upsampling routines.

Upsampling input data is counted in "row groups". A row group is defined to be $(v_samp_factor * DCT_scaled_size / min_DCT_scaled_size)$ sample rows of each component. Upsampling will normally produce $max_v_samp_factor$ pixel rows from each row group (but this could vary if the upsampler is applying a scale factor of its own).

This file contains simple error-reporting and trace-message routines. These are suitable for Unix-like systems and others where writing to stderr is the right thing to do. Many applications will want to replace some or all of these routines.

If you define `USE_WINDOWS_MESSAGEBOX` in `jpeg.h` or in the makefile, you get a Windows-specific hack to display error messages in a dialog box. It ain't much, but it beats dropping error messages into the bit bucket, which is what happens to output to stderr under most Windows C compilers.

These routines are used by both the compression and decompression code.

This file contains a floating-point implementation of the forward DCT (Discrete Cosine Transform).

This implementation should be more accurate than either of the integer DCT implementations. However, it may not give the same results on all machines because of differences in roundoff behavior. Speed will depend on the hardware's floating point capacity.

A 2-D DCT can be done by 1-D DCT on each row followed by 1-D DCT on each column. Direct algorithms are also available, but they are much more complex and seem not to be any faster when reduced to code.

This implementation is based on Arai, Agui, and Nakajima's algorithm for scaled DCT. Their original paper (Trans. IEICE E-71(11):1095) is in Japanese, but the algorithm is described in the Pennebaker & Mitchell JPEG textbook (see REFERENCES section in file README.ijg). The following code is based directly on figure 4-8 in P&M.

While an 8-point DCT cannot be done in less than 11 multiplies, it is possible to arrange the computation so that many of the multiplies are simple scalings of the final outputs. These multiplies can then be folded into the multiplications or divisions by the JPEG quantization table entries. The AA&N method leaves only 5 multiplies and 29 adds to be done in the DCT itself.

The primary disadvantage of this method is that with a fixed-point implementation, accuracy is lost due to imprecise representation of the scaled quantization values. However, that problem does not arise if we use floating point arithmetic.

We also provide IDCT routines with various output sample block sizes for direct resolution reduction or enlargement without additional resampling: NxN (N=1...16) pixels for one 8x8 input DCT block.

For N<8 we simply take the corresponding low-frequency coefficients of the 8x8 input DCT block and apply an NxN point IDCT on the sub-block to yield the downscaled outputs.

This can be seen as direct low-pass downsampling from the DCT domain point of view rather than the usual spatial domain point of view,

This file contains inverse-DCT routines that produce reduced-size output: either 4x4, 2x2, or 1x1 pixels from an 8x8 DCT block.

The implementation is based on the Loeffler, Ligtenberg and Moschytz (LL&M) algorithm used in jidctint.c. We simply replace each 8-to-8 1-D IDCT step with an 8-to-4 step that produces the four averages of two adjacent outputs (or an 8-to-2 step producing two averages of four outputs, for 2x2 output).

These steps were derived by computing the corresponding values at the end of the normal LL&M code, then simplifying as much as possible.

1x1 is trivial: just take the DC coefficient divided by 8.

This file contains the JPEG system-independent memory management routines. This code is usable across a wide variety of machines; most of the system dependencies have been isolated in a separate file.

The major functions provided here are:

- * pool-based allocation and freeing of memory;
- * policy decisions about how to divide available memory among the virtual arrays;
- * control logic for swapping virtual arrays between main memory and backing storage.

The separate system-dependent file provides the actual backing-storage access code, and it contains the policy decision about how much total main memory to use.

This file is system-dependent in the sense that some of its functions are unnecessary in some systems. For example, if there is enough virtual memory so that backing storage will never be used, much of the virtual array control logic could be removed. (Of course, if you have that much memory then you shouldn't care about a little bit of unused code...)

This file provides a really simple implementation of the system-dependent portion of the JPEG memory manager. This implementation assumes that no backing-store files are needed: all required space can be obtained from malloc().

This is very portable in the sense that it'll compile on almost anything, but you'd better have lots of main memory (or virtual memory) if you want to process big images.

It is also possible to use just the second pass to map to an arbitrary externally-given color map.

Note: ordered dithering is not supported, since there isn't any fast way to compute intercolor distances; it's unclear that ordered dither's fundamental assumptions even hold with an irregularly spaced color map.

This file contains routines to read input images in Microsoft "BMP" format (MS Windows 3.x, OS/2 1.x, and OS/2 2.x flavors). Currently, only 8-bit and 24-bit images are supported, not 1-bit or 4-bit (feeding such low-depth images into JPEG would be silly anyway). Also, we don't support RLE-compressed files.

These routines may need modification for non-Unix environments or specialized applications. As they stand, they assume input from an ordinary stdio stream. They further assume that reading begins at the start of the file; start_input may need work if the user interface has already read some data (e.g., to determine that the file is indeed BMP format).

This file implements djpeg's "-map file" switch. It reads a source image and constructs a colormap to be supplied to the JPEG decompressor.

Currently, these file formats are supported for the map file:

GIF: the contents of the GIF's global colormap are used.

PPM (either text or raw flavor): the entire file is read and each unique pixel value is entered in the map.

Note that reading a large PPM file will be horrendously slow.
Typically, a PPM-format map file should contain just one pixel of each desired color. Such a file can be extracted from an ordinary image PPM file with ppmtomap(1).

Rescaling a PPM that has a maxval unequal to MAXJSAMPLE is not currently implemented.

The extended 2-byte-per-sample raw PPM/PGM formats are supported.

These routines may need modification for non-Unix environments or Since numerous people will be contributing code and bug fixes, it's important to establish a common coding style. The goal of using similar coding styles is much more important than the details of just what that style is.

In general we follow the recommendations of "Recommended C Style and Coding Standards" revision 6.1 (Cannon et al. as modified by Spencer, Keppel and Brader). This document is available in the IJG FTP archive (see jpeg/doc/cstyle.ms.tbl.Z, or cstyle.txt.Z for those without nroff/tbl).

This file documents the configuration options that are required to customize the JPEG software for a particular system.

The actual configuration options for a particular installation are stored in jconfig.h. On many machines, jconfig.h can be generated automatically or copied from one of the "canned" jconfig files that we supply. But if you need to generate a jconfig.h file by hand, this file tells you how.

This file describes how to use the IJG JPEG library within an application program. Read it if you want to write a program that uses the library.

The file `example.c` provides heavily commented skeleton code for calling the JPEG library. Also see `jpeglib.h` (the include file to be used by application programs) for full details about data structures and function parameter lists. The library source code, of course, is the ultimate reference.

Note that there have been major changes from the application interface presented by IJG version 4 and earlier versions. The old design had several inherent limitations, and it had accumulated a lot of cruft as we added features while trying to minimize application-interface changes. We have sacrificed backward compatibility in the version 5 rewrite, but we think the improvements justify this.

This file provides an overview of the architecture of the IJG JPEG software; that is, the functions of the various modules in the system and the interfaces between modules. For more precise details about any data structure or calling convention, see the include files and comments in the source code.

We assume that the reader is already somewhat familiar with the JPEG standard. The `README.ijg` file includes references for learning about JPEG. The file `libjpeg.txt` describes the library from the viewpoint of an application programmer using the library; it's best to read that file before this one. Also, the file `coderrules.txt` describes the coding style conventions we use.

In this document, JPEG-specific terminology follows the JPEG standard:

- A "component" means a color channel, e.g., Red or Luminance.
- A "sample" is a single component value (i.e., one number in the image data).
- A "coefficient" is a frequency coefficient (a DCT transform output number).
- A "block" is an 8x8 group of samples or coefficients.
- An "MCU" (minimum coded unit) is an interleaved set of blocks of size determined by the sampling factors, or a single block in a noninterleaved scan.

We do not use the terms "pixel" and "sample" interchangeably. When we say pixel, we mean an element of the full-size image, while a sample is an element of the downsampled image. Thus the number of samples may vary across components while the number of pixels does not. (This terminology is not used rigorously throughout the code, but it is used in places where confusion would otherwise result.)

This include file defines the interface between the system-independent and system-dependent portions of the JPEG memory manager. No other modules need include it. (The system-independent portion is jmemmgr.c; there are several different versions of the system-dependent portion.)

This file works as-is for the system-dependent memory managers supplied in the IJG distribution. You may need to modify it if you write a custom memory manager. If system-dependent changes are needed in this file, the best method is to #ifdef them based on a configuration symbol supplied in jconfig.h.

This program is free software; you can redistribute it and/or modify it under the terms of the GNU General Public License as published by the Free Software Foundation; either version 2 of the License, or (at your option) any later version.

Copyright (C) 1989, 1991 Free Software Foundation, Inc. <<http://fsf.org/>>
51 Franklin St, Fifth Floor, Boston, MA 02110-1301 USA
Everyone is permitted to copy and distribute verbatim copies of this license document, but changing it is not allowed.

Preamble

The licenses for most software are designed to take away your freedom to share and change it. By contrast, the GNU General Public License is intended to guarantee your freedom to share and change free software--to make sure the software is free for all its users. This General Public License applies to most of the Free Software Foundation's software and to any other program whose authors commit to using it. (Some other Free Software Foundation software is covered by the GNU Library General Public License instead.) You can apply it to your programs, too.

When we speak of free software, we are referring to freedom, not price. Our General Public Licenses are designed to make sure that you have the freedom to distribute copies of free software (and charge for this service if you wish), that you receive source code or can get it if you want it, that you can change the software or use pieces of it in new free programs; and that you know you can do these things.

To protect your rights, we need to make restrictions that forbid anyone to deny you these rights or to ask you to surrender the rights. These restrictions translate to certain responsibilities for you if you distribute copies of the software, or if you modify it.

For example, if you distribute copies of such a program, whether gratis or for a fee, you must give the recipients all the rights that you have. You must make sure that they, too, receive or can get the source code. And you must show them these terms so they know their rights.

We protect your rights with two steps: (1) copyright the software, and (2) offer you this license which gives you legal permission to copy, distribute and/or modify the software.

Also, for each author's protection and ours, we want to make certain that everyone understands that there is no warranty for this free software. If the software is modified by someone else and passed on, we want its recipients to know that what they have is not the original, so that any problems introduced by others will not reflect on the original authors' reputations.

Finally, any free program is threatened constantly by software patents. We wish to avoid the danger that redistributors of a free program will individually obtain patent licenses, in effect making the program proprietary. To prevent this, we have made it clear that any patent must be licensed for everyone's free use or not licensed at all.

The precise terms and conditions for copying, distribution and modification follow.

GNU GENERAL PUBLIC LICENSE TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR COPYING, DISTRIBUTION AND MODIFICATION

0. This License applies to any program or other work which contains a notice placed by the copyright holder saying it may be distributed under the terms of this General Public License. The "Program", below, refers to any such program or work, and a "work based on the Program" means either the Program or any derivative work under copyright law: that is to say, a work containing the Program or a portion of it, either verbatim or with modifications and/or translated into another language. (Hereinafter, translation is included without limitation in the term "modification".) Each licensee is addressed as "you".

Activities other than copying, distribution and modification are not covered by this License; they are outside its scope. The act of running the Program is not restricted, and the output from the Program is covered only if its contents constitute a work based on the Program (independent of having been made by running the Program). Whether that is true depends on what the Program does.

1. You may copy and distribute verbatim copies of the Program's source code as you receive it, in any medium, provided that you conspicuously and appropriately publish on each copy an appropriate copyright notice and disclaimer of warranty; keep intact all the notices that refer to this License and to the absence of any warranty; and give any other recipients of the Program a copy of this License along with the Program.

You may charge a fee for the physical act of transferring a copy, and you may at your option offer warranty protection in exchange for a fee.

2. You may modify your copy or copies of the Program or any portion of it, thus forming a work based on the Program, and copy and distribute such modifications or work under the terms of Section 1 above, provided that you also meet all of these conditions:

a) You must cause the modified files to carry prominent notices stating that you changed the files and the date of any change.

b) You must cause any work that you distribute or publish, that in whole or in part contains or is derived from the Program or any part thereof, to be licensed as a whole at no charge to all third parties under the terms of this License.

c) If the modified program normally reads commands interactively when run, you must cause it, when started running for such interactive use in the most ordinary way, to print or display an announcement including an appropriate copyright notice and a notice that there is no warranty (or else, saying that you provide a warranty) and that users may redistribute the program under these conditions, and telling the user how to view a copy of this License. (Exception: if the Program itself is interactive but does not normally print such an announcement, your work based on the Program is not required to print an announcement.)

These requirements apply to the modified work as a whole. If identifiable sections of that work are not derived from the Program, and can be reasonably considered independent and separate works in themselves, then this License, and its terms, do not apply to those sections when you distribute them as separate works. But when you distribute the same sections as part of a whole which is a work based on the Program, the distribution of the whole must be on the terms of this License, whose permissions for other licensees extend to the entire whole, and thus to each and every part regardless of who wrote it.

Thus, it is not the intent of this section to claim rights or contest your rights to work written entirely by you; rather, the intent is to exercise the right to control the distribution of derivative or collective works based on the Program.

In addition, mere aggregation of another work not based on the Program with the Program (or with a work based on the Program) on a volume of a storage or distribution medium does not bring the other work under the scope of this License.

3. You may copy and distribute the Program (or a work based on it, under Section 2) in object code or executable form under the terms of Sections 1 and 2 above provided that you also do one of the following:

- a) Accompany it with the complete corresponding machine-readable source code, which must be distributed under the terms of Sections 1 and 2 above on a medium customarily used for software interchange; or,
- b) Accompany it with a written offer, valid for at least three years, to give any third party, for a charge no more than your cost of physically performing source distribution, a complete machine-readable copy of the corresponding source code, to be distributed under the terms of Sections 1 and 2 above on a medium customarily used for software interchange; or,
- c) Accompany it with the information you received as to the offer to distribute corresponding source code. (This alternative is allowed only for noncommercial distribution and only if you received the program in object code or executable form with such an offer, in accord with Subsection b above.)

The source code for a work means the preferred form of the work for making modifications to it. For an executable work, complete source code means all the source code for all modules it contains, plus any associated interface definition files, plus the scripts used to control compilation and installation of the executable. However, as a special exception, the source code distributed need not include anything that is normally distributed (in either source or binary form) with the major components (compiler, kernel, and so on) of the operating system on which the executable runs, unless that component itself accompanies the executable.

If distribution of executable or object code is made by offering access to copy from a designated place, then offering equivalent access to copy the source code from the same place counts as distribution of the source code, even though third parties are not compelled to copy the source along with the object code.

4. You may not copy, modify, sublicense, or distribute the Program except as expressly provided under this License. Any attempt otherwise to copy, modify, sublicense or distribute the Program is void, and will automatically terminate your rights under this License. However, parties who have received copies, or rights, from you under this License will not have their licenses terminated so long as such parties remain in full compliance.

5. You are not required to accept this License, since you have not signed it. However, nothing else grants you permission to modify or distribute the Program or its derivative works. These actions are prohibited by law if you do not accept this License. Therefore, by modifying or distributing the Program (or any work based on the Program), you indicate your acceptance of this License to do so, and all its terms and conditions for copying, distributing or modifying the Program or works based on it.

6. Each time you redistribute the Program (or any work based on the Program), the recipient automatically receives a license from the original licensor to copy, distribute or modify the Program subject to these terms and conditions. You may not impose any further restrictions on the recipients' exercise of the rights granted herein. You are not responsible for enforcing compliance by third parties to this License.

7. If, as a consequence of a court judgment or allegation of patent infringement or for any other reason (not limited to patent issues), conditions are imposed on you (whether by court order, agreement or otherwise) that contradict the conditions of this License, they do not excuse you from the conditions of this License. If you cannot distribute so as to satisfy simultaneously your obligations under this License and any other pertinent obligations, then as a consequence you may not distribute the Program at all. For example, if a patent license would not permit royalty-free redistribution of the Program by all those who receive copies directly or indirectly through you, then the only way you could satisfy both it and this License would be to refrain entirely from distribution of the Program.

If any portion of this section is held invalid or unenforceable under any particular circumstance, the balance of the section is intended to apply and the section as a whole is intended to apply in other circumstances.

It is not the purpose of this section to induce you to infringe any patents or other property right claims or to contest validity of any such claims; this section has the sole purpose of protecting the integrity of the free software distribution system, which is implemented by public license practices. Many people have made generous contributions to the wide range of software distributed through that system in reliance on consistent application of that system; it is up to the author/donor to decide if he or she is willing to distribute software through any other system and a licensee cannot impose that choice.

This section is intended to make thoroughly clear what is believed to be a consequence of the rest of this License.

8. If the distribution and/or use of the Program is restricted in certain countries either by patents or by copyrighted interfaces, the original copyright holder who places the Program under this License may add an explicit geographical distribution limitation excluding those countries, so that distribution is permitted only in or among countries not thus excluded. In such case, this License incorporates the limitation as if written in the body of this License.

9. The Free Software Foundation may publish revised and/or new versions of the General Public License from time to time. Such new versions will be similar in spirit to the present version, but may differ in detail to address new problems or concerns.

Each version is given a distinguishing version number. If the Program specifies a version number of this License which applies to it and "any later version", you have the option of following the terms and conditions either of that version or of any later version published by the Free Software Foundation. If the Program does not specify a version number of this License, you may choose any version ever published by the Free Software Foundation.

10. If you wish to incorporate parts of the Program into other free programs whose distribution conditions are different, write to the author to ask for permission. For software which is copyrighted by the Free Software Foundation, write to the Free Software Foundation; we sometimes make exceptions for this. Our decision will be guided by the two goals of preserving the free status of all derivatives of our free software and of promoting the sharing and reuse of software generally.

NO WARRANTY

11. BECAUSE THE PROGRAM IS LICENSED FREE OF CHARGE, THERE IS NO WARRANTY FOR THE PROGRAM, TO THE EXTENT PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE LAW. EXCEPT WHEN OTHERWISE STATED IN WRITING THE COPYRIGHT HOLDERS AND/OR OTHER PARTIES PROVIDE THE PROGRAM "AS IS" WITHOUT WARRANTY OF ANY KIND, EITHER EXPRESSED OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, THE IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY AND FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. THE ENTIRE RISK AS TO THE QUALITY AND PERFORMANCE OF THE PROGRAM IS WITH YOU. SHOULD THE PROGRAM PROVE DEFECTIVE, YOU ASSUME THE COST OF ALL NECESSARY SERVICING, REPAIR OR CORRECTION.

12. IN NO EVENT UNLESS REQUIRED BY APPLICABLE LAW OR AGREED TO IN WRITING WILL ANY COPYRIGHT HOLDER, OR ANY OTHER PARTY WHO MAY MODIFY AND/OR REDISTRIBUTE THE PROGRAM AS PERMITTED ABOVE, BE LIABLE TO YOU FOR DAMAGES, INCLUDING ANY GENERAL, SPECIAL, INCIDENTAL OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES ARISING OUT OF THE USE OR INABILITY TO USE THE PROGRAM (INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO LOSS OF DATA OR DATA BEING RENDERED INACCURATE OR LOSSES SUSTAINED BY YOU OR THIRD PARTIES OR A FAILURE OF THE PROGRAM TO OPERATE WITH ANY OTHER PROGRAMS), EVEN IF SUCH HOLDER OR OTHER PARTY HAS BEEN ADVISED OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGES.

END OF TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Appendix: How to Apply These Terms to Your New Programs

If you develop a new program, and you want it to be of the greatest possible use to the public, the best way to achieve this is to make it free software which everyone can redistribute and change under these terms.

To do so, attach the following notices to the program. It is safest to attach them to the start of each source file to most effectively convey the exclusion of warranty; and each file should have at least the "copyright" line and a pointer to where the full notice is found.

<one line to give the program's name and a brief idea of what it does.>
Copyright (C) 19yy <name of author>

This program is free software; you can redistribute it and/or modify it under the terms of the GNU General Public License as published by the Free Software Foundation; either version 2 of the License, or (at your option) any later version.

This program is distributed in the hope that it will be useful, but WITHOUT ANY WARRANTY; without even the implied warranty of MERCHANTABILITY or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. See the GNU General Public License for more details.

You should have received a copy of the GNU General Public License along with this program; if not, write to the Free Software Foundation, Inc., 675 Mass Ave, Cambridge, MA 02139, USA.

Also add information on how to contact you by electronic and paper mail.

If the program is interactive, make it output a short notice like this when it starts in an interactive mode:

Gnomovision version 69, Copyright (C) 19yy name of author
Gnomovision comes with ABSOLUTELY NO WARRANTY; for details type `show w'.
This is free software, and you are welcome to redistribute it under certain conditions; type `show c' for details.

The hypothetical commands `show w' and `show c' should show the appropriate parts of the General Public License. Of course, the commands you use may be called something other than `show w' and `show c'; they could even be mouse-clicks or menu items--whatever suits your program.

You should also get your employer (if you work as a programmer) or your school, if any, to sign a "copyright disclaimer" for the program, if necessary. Here is a sample; alter the names:

Yoyodyne, Inc., hereby disclaims all copyright interest in the program
'Gnomovision' (which makes passes at compilers) written by James Hacker.

<signature of Ty Coon>, 1 April 1989
Ty Coon, President of Vice

This General Public License does not permit incorporating your program into proprietary programs. If your program is a subroutine library, you may consider it more useful to permit linking proprietary applications with the library. If this is what you want to do, use the GNU Library General Public License instead of this License.

(3) Permission for use of this software is granted only if the user accepts full responsibility for any undesirable consequences; the authors accept NO LIABILITY for damages of any kind.

These conditions apply to any software derived from or based on the IJG code, not just to the unmodified library. If you use our work, you ought to acknowledge us.

Permission is NOT granted for the use of any IJG author's name or company name in advertising or publicity relating to this software or products derived from it. This software may be referred to only as "the Independent JPEG Group's software".

We specifically permit and encourage the use of this software as the basis of commercial products, provided that all warranty or liability claims are assumed by the product vendor.

The Unix configuration script "configure" was produced with GNU Autoconf. It is copyright by the Free Software Foundation but is freely distributable. The same holds for its supporting scripts (config.guess, config.sub, ltmain.sh). Another support script, install-sh, is copyright by X Consortium but is also freely distributable.

The IJG distribution formerly included code to read and write GIF files. To avoid entanglement with the Unisys LZW patent, GIF reading support has been removed altogether, and the GIF writer has been simplified to produce uncompressed GIFs. This technique does not use the LZW algorithm; the resulting GIF files are larger than usual, but are readable by all standard GIF decoders.

We are required to state that

"The Graphics Interchange Format(c) is the Copyright property of CompuServe Incorporated. GIF(sm) is a Service Mark property of CompuServe Incorporated."

.SH OVERVIEW

.PP

A new command by the name of *%fIcommand%*fR will be created to access the LDAP database at *%fIhostlist%*fR. *%fIhostlist%*fR may contain elements of the format *%fBhost:port%*fR if a port other than the default LDAP port of 389 is required. The LDAP library will attempt to connect to each host in turn until it succeeds or exhausts the list.

.PP

The *%fBexplode%*fR form provides a means (via `ldap_explode(3)`) to explode a DN into its component parts. *%fB-nonames%*fR strips off the attribute names, and -list returns a list suitable for *%fBarray set%*fR.

.PP

Finally, the last form, described in more detail below, refers generically to how the command created by the first two examples is used.

RFC1274: Cosine and Internet X.500 schema

This file contains LDAPv3 schema derived from X.500 COSINE "pilot" schema. As this schema was defined for X.500(89), some oddities were introduced in the mapping to LDAPv3. The mappings were based upon: draft-ietf-asid-ldapv3-attributes-03.txt
(a work in progress)

Note: It seems that the pilot schema evolved beyond what was described in RFC1274. However, this document attempts to describes page 70 for details on how these groups were used.

A description of the objectclass definition is available here:

core.schema

These definitions are considered experimental due to the lack of a formal specification (e.g., RFC).

NOT RECOMMENDED FOR PRODUCTION USE! USE WITH CAUTION!

The Netscape documentation describes this as an auxiliary objectclass but their implementations have always defined it as a structural class. The sloppiness here is because Netscape-derived servers don't actually implement the X.500 data model, and they don't honor the distinction between structural and auxiliary classes. This fact is noted here:
<http://forum.java.sun.com/thread.jspa?threadID=5016864&messageID=9034636>

In accordance with other existing implementations, we define it as a structural class.

.SH OVERVIEW

.PP

A new command by the name of %fIcommand%fR will be created to access the LDAP database at %fIhostlist%fR. %fIhostlist%fR may contain elements of the format %fBhost:port%fR if a port other than the default LDAP port of 389 is required. The LDAP library will attempt to connect to each host in turn until it succeeds or exhausts the list.

.PP

The %fBexplode%fR form provides a means (via ldap_explode(3)) to explode a DN
into its component parts. %fB-nonames%fR strips off the attribute names,
and -list returns a list suitable for %fBarray set%fR.

.PP

Finally, the last form, described in more detail below, refers generically to how the command created by the first two examples is used.

Definitions from RFC2307 (Experimental)
An Approach for Using LDAP as a Network Information Service

Depends upon core.schema and cosine.schema

Note: The definitions in RFC2307 are given in syntaxes closely related to those in RFC2252, however, some liberties are taken that are not supported by RFC2252. This file has been written following RFC2252 strictly.

This previously copyrighted work has been placed into the public domain by the author and may be freely used for any purpose, private or commercial.

Because of the number of inquiries I was receiving about the use of this product in commercially developed works I have decided to simply make it public domain to further its unrestricted use. I specifically would be most happy to see this material become a part of the standard Unix distributions by AT&T and the Berkeley Computer Science Research Group, and a standard part of the GNU system from the Free Software Foundation.

I would appreciate it, as a courtesy, if this notice is left in all copies and derivative works. Thank you.

The author makes no warranty of any kind with respect to this product and explicitly disclaims any implied warranties of merchantability or fitness for any particular purpose.

QuickLZ can be used for free under the GPL 1, 2 or 3 license (where anything released into public must be open source) or under a commercial license if such has been acquired (see <http://www.quicklz.com/order.html>). The commercial license does not cover derived or ported versions created by third parties under GPL.

You can edit following user settings. Data must be decompressed with the same setting of QLZ_COMPRESSION_LEVEL and QLZ_STREAMING_BUFFER as it was compressed (see manual). If QLZ_STREAMING_BUFFER > 0, scratch buffers must be initially zeroed out (see manual). First ifndef makes it possible to define settings from the outside like the compiler command line.

Thanks to Rodney Brown <rbrown64@csc.com.au> for his contribution of faster CRC methods: exclusive-oring 32 bits of data at a time, and pre-computing tables for updating the shift register in one step with three exclusive-ors instead of four steps with four exclusive-ors. This results in about a factor of two increase in speed on a Power PC G4 (PPC7455) using gcc -O3.

crypt.c (full version) by Info-ZIP. Last revised: [see crypt.h]

The encryption/decryption parts of this source code (as opposed to the non-echoing password parts) were originally written in Europe. The whole source package can be freely distributed, including from the USA. (Prior to January 2000, re-export from the US was a violation of US law.)

This encryption code is a direct transcription of the algorithm from Roger Schlafly, described by Phil Katz in the file appnote.txt. This file (appnote.txt) is distributed with the PKZIP program (even in the version without encryption capabilities).

Thanks to Rodney Brown <rbrown64@csc.com.au> for his contribution of faster CRC methods: exclusive-oring 32 bits of data at a time, and pre-computing tables for updating the shift register in one step with three exclusive-ors instead of four steps with four exclusive-ors. This results in about a factor of two increase in speed on a Power PC G4 (PPC7455) using gcc -O3.

The Open Query GRAPH engine (OQGRAPH) is a computation engine allowing hierarchies and more complex graph structures to be handled in a relational fashion. In a nutshell, tree structures and friend-of-a-friend style searches can now be done using standard SQL syntax, and results joined onto other tables.

Based on a concept by Arjen Lentz

fsck --- A generic, parallelizing front-end for the fsck program.
It will automatically try to run fsck programs in parallel if the devices are on separate spindles. It is based on the same ideas as the generic front end for fsck by David Engel and Fred van Kempen, but it has been completely rewritten from scratch to support parallel execution.

Written by Theodore Ts'o, <tytso@mit.edu>

Miquel van Smoorenburg (miquels@drinkel.ow.org) 20-Oct-1994:

- o Changed -t fstype to behave like with mount when -A (all file systems) or -M (like mount) is specified.
- o fsck looks if it can find the fsck.type program to decide if it should ignore the fs type. This way more fsck programs can be added without changing this front-end.
- o -R flag skip root file system.

cpulist - string with CPU ranges (e.g. "0-3,5,7,8")

Based on code from taskset.c and Linux kernel.

COPYRIGHT (C) 1986 Gary S. Brown. You may use this program, or code or tables extracted from it, as desired without restriction.

First, the polynomial itself and its table of feedback terms. The polynomial is

$X^{32} + X^{26} + X^{23} + X^{22} + X^{16} + X^{12} + X^{11} + X^{10} + X^8 + X^7 + X^5 + X^4 + X^2 + X^1 + X^0$

Note that we take it "backwards" and put the highest-order term in the lowest-order bit. The X^{32} term is "implied"; the LSB is the X^{31} term, etc. The X^0 term (usually shown as "+1") results in the MSB being 1.

Note that the usual hardware shift register implementation, which is what we're using (we're merely optimizing it by doing eight-bit chunks at a time) shifts bits into the lowest-order term. In our implementation, that means shifting towards the right. Why do we do it this way? Because the calculated CRC must be transmitted in order from highest-order term to lowest-order term. UARTs transmit characters in order from LSB to MSB. By storing the CRC this way, we hand it to the UART in the order low-byte to high-byte; the UART sends each low-bit to high-bit; and the result is transmission bit by bit from highest- to lowest-order term without requiring any bit shuffling on our part. Reception works similarly.

The feedback terms table consists of 256, 32-bit entries. Notes

The table can be generated at runtime if desired; code to do so is shown later. It might not be obvious, but the feedback terms simply represent the results of eight shift/xor operations for all combinations of data and CRC register values.

The values must be right-shifted by eight bits by the "updcrc" logic; the shift must be unsigned (bring in zeroes). On some hardware you could probably optimize the shift in assembler by using byte-swap instructions.

-- based on mount/losetup.c

Simple library for work with loop devices.

- requires kernel 2.6.x
- reads info from /sys/block/loop<N>/loop/<attr> (new kernels)
- reads info by ioctl
- supports unlimited number of loop devices
- supports /dev/loop<N> as well as /dev/loop/<N>
- minimize overhead (fd, loopinfo, ... are shared for all operations)
- setup (associate device and backing file)
- delete (dis-associate file)
- old LOOP_{SET,GET}_STATUS (32bit) ioctls are unsupported
- extendible

LGPLV2(Many files exist)

Very simple multibyte buffer editor. Allows to maintain the current position in the string, add and remove chars on the current position.

This code implements the MD5 message-digest algorithm. The algorithm is due to Ron Rivest. This code was written by Colin Plumb in 1993, no copyright is claimed. This code is in the public domain; do with it what you wish.

Equivalent code is available from RSA Data Security, Inc. This code has been tested against that, and is equivalent, except that you don't need to include two pages of legalese with every copy.

To compute the message digest of a chunk of bytes, declare an MD5Context structure, pass it to MD5Init, call MD5Update as needed on buffers full of bytes, and then call MD5Final, which will fill a supplied 16-byte array with the digest.

GPLV3('parse-date.c',)

Simple functions to access files. Paths can be globally prefixed to read data from an alternative source (e.g. a /proc dump for regression tests).

The paths is possible to format by printf-like way for functions with "f" postfix in the name (e.g. readf, openf, ... ul_path_readf_u64()).

The ul_path_read_* API is possible to use without path_cxt handler. In this case is not possible to use global prefix and printf-like formatting.

No copyright is claimed. This code is in the public domain; do with it what you wish.

DRBD is a blocklevel replication solution in the Linux kernel, upstream since 2.6.33. (See <http://drbd.linbit.com/>) DRBDmanage is a configuration frontend that assists in creating/deleting/modifying DRBD resources across multiple machines (a DRBDmanage "cluster"); this file detects its control volume, which is replicated (via DRBD 9) on some of the nodes.

The test heavily uses shared memory, to enlarge maximal size of shared segment use:

echo "4294967295" > /proc/sys/kernel/shmm

The test is compiled against in-tree libuuid, if you want to test uuid installed to the system then make sure that libuuid uses the same socket like the running uuid. You can start the uuid manually, for example:

uuid --debug --no-fork --no-pid --socket /run/uuid/request

if the $runitdir (as defined by build-system) is /run. If you want to overwrite the built-in default then use:

make uuid uuidgen runstatedir=/var/run
```

Converted to terminfo by Kars de Jong (jongk@cs.utwente.nl)

1999-02-22 Arkadiusz MiÅkiewicz <misiek@pld.ORG.PL>
- added Native Language Support

Semantics:

Setterm writes to standard output a character string that will invoke the specified terminal capabilities. Where possible terminfo is consulted to find the string to use. Some options however do not correspond to a terminfo capability. In this case if the terminal type is "con*", or "linux*" the string that invokes the specified capabilities on the PC Linux virtual console driver is output. Options that are not implemented by the terminal are ignored.

The following options are non-obvious.

- term can be used to override the TERM environment variable.
- reset displays the terminal reset string, which typically resets the terminal to its power on state.

Needs to be called before any other auth modules so we can setup the user prompt before it's first used. Allows one argument option, which is the full path to a file to be used for issue (uses /etc/issue as a default) such as "issue=/etc/issue.telnet".

We can also parse escapes within the the issue file (enabled by default, but can be disabled with the "noesc" option). It's the exact same parsing as util-linux'sagetty program performs.

Needs to be called before any other auth modules so we can setup the user prompt before it's first used. Allows one argument option, which is the full path to a file to be used for issue (uses /etc/issue as a default) such as "issue=/etc/issue.telnet".

We can also parse escapes within the the issue file (enabled by default, but can be disabled with the "noesc" option). It's the exact same parsing as util-linux'sagetty program performs.

Needs to be called before any other auth modules so we can setup the user prompt before it's first used. Allows one argument option, which is the full path to a file to be used for issue (uses /etc/issue as a default) such as "issue=/etc/issue.telnet".

We can also parse escapes within the the issue file (enabled by default, but can be disabled with the "noesc" option). It's the exact same parsing as util-linux'sagetty program performs.

Needs to be called before any other auth modules so we can setup the user prompt before it's first used. Allows one argument option, which is the full path to a file to be used for issue (uses /etc/issue as a default) such as "issue=/etc/issue.telnet".

We can also parse escapes within the the issue file (enabled by default, but can be disabled with the "noesc" option). It's the exact same parsing as util-linux'sagetty program performs.

savefile.c - supports offline use of tcpdump
" Extraction/creation by Jeffrey Mogul, DECWRL "
" Modified by Steve McCanne, LBL."

Used to save the received packet headers, after filtering, to a file, and then read them later.
The first record in the file contains saved values for the machine dependent values so we can print the dump file on any architecture.

Preamble

The GNU General Public License is a free, copyleft license for software and other kinds of works.

The licenses for most software and other practical works are designed to take away your freedom to share and change the works. By contrast, the GNU General Public License is intended to guarantee your freedom to share and change all versions of a program--to make sure it remains free software for all its users. We, the Free Software Foundation, use the GNU General Public License for most of our software; it applies also to any other work released this way by its authors. You can apply it to your programs, too.

When we speak of free software, we are referring to freedom, not price. Our General Public Licenses are designed to make sure that you have the freedom to distribute copies of free software (and charge for them if you wish), that you receive source code or can get it if you want it, that you can change the software or use pieces of it in new free programs, and that you know you can do these things.

To protect your rights, we need to prevent others from denying you these rights or asking you to surrender the rights. Therefore, you have certain responsibilities if you distribute copies of the software, or if you modify it

For example, if you distribute copies of such a program, whether gratis or for a fee, you must pass on to the recipients the same freedoms that you received. You must make sure that they, too, receive or can get the source code. And you must show them these terms so they know their rights.

GNU GENERAL PUBLIC LICENSE
Version 2, June 1991

Everyone is permitted to copy and distribute verbatim copies of this license document, but changing it is not allowed.

Preamble

The licenses for most software are designed to take away your freedom to share and change it. By contrast, the GNU General Public License is intended to guarantee your freedom to share and change free software--to make sure the software is free for all its users. This General Public License applies to most of the Free Software Foundation's software and to any other program whose authors commit to using it. (Some other Free Software Foundation software is covered by the GNU Library General Public License instead.) You can apply it to your programs, too.

When we speak of free software, we are referring to freedom, not price. Our General Public Licenses are designed to make sure that you have the freedom to distribute copies of free software (and charge for this service if you wish), that you receive source code or can get it if you want it, that you can change the software or use pieces of it in new free programs; and that you know you can do these things.

To protect your rights, we need to make restrictions that forbid anyone to deny you these rights or to ask you to surrender the rights. These restrictions translate to certain responsibilities for you if you distribute copies of the software, or if you modify it.

For example, if you distribute copies of such a program, whether gratis or for a fee, you must give the recipients all the rights that you have. You must make sure that they, too, receive or can get the source code. And you must show them these terms so they know their rights.

We protect your rights with two steps: (1) copyright the software, and Copyright (C) DFS Deutsche Flugsicherung (2004-2005). All Rights Reserved.

You are allowed to use this source code in any open source or closed source software you want. You are allowed to use the algorithms for a hardware solution. You are allowed to modify the source code. You are not allowed to remove the name of the author from this memo or from the source code files. You are not allowed to monopolize the source code or the algorithms behind the source code as your intellectual property. This source code is free of royalty and comes with no warranty.

All PulseAudio source files, except as noted below, are licensed under the GNU Lesser General Public License. (see file LGPL for details)

However, the server side has optional GPL dependencies. These include the libsamplerate and gdbm (core libraries), LIRC (lirc module) and FFTW (equalizer module), although others may also be included in the future. If PulseAudio is compiled with these optional components, this effectively downgrades the license of the server part to GPL (see the file GPL for details), exercising section 3 of the LGPL. In such circumstances, you should treat the client library (libpulse) of PulseAudio as being LGPL licensed and the server part (libpulsecore) as being GPL licensed. Since the PulseAudio daemon, tests, various utilities/helpers and the modules link to libpulsecore and/or the afore mentioned optional GPL dependencies they are of course also GPL licensed also in this scenario.

In addition to this, if D-Bus support is enabled, the PulseAudio client library (libpulse) MAY need to be licensed under the GPL, depending on the license adopted for libdbus. libdbus is licensed under either of the Academic Free License 2.1 or GPL 2.0 or above. Which of these applies is your choice, and the result affects the licensing of libpulse and thus, potentially, all programs that link to libpulse.

Andre Adrian's echo cancellation implementation is licensed under a less restrictive license - see src/modules/echo-cancel/adrian-license.txt for details.

Some other files pulled into PA source (i.e. reference implementations that are considered too small and stable to be considered as an external library) use the more permissive MIT license. These include the device reservation DBus protocol and realtime kit implementations.

A more permissive BSD-style license is used for LFE filters, see src/pulsecore/filter/LICENSE.WEBKIT for details.

Additionally, a more permissive Sun license is used for code that performs u-law, A-law and linear PCM conversions.

While we attempt to provide a summary here, it is the ultimate responsibility of the packager to ensure the components they use in their build of PulseAudio meets their license requirements.

This configure script is free software; the Free Software Foundation gives unlimited permission to copy, distribute and modify it.

- (1) GPL-compatible doesn't mean that we're distributing Python under the GPL. All Python licenses, unlike the GPL, let you distribute a modified version without making your changes open source. The GPL-compatible licenses make it possible to combine Python with other software that is released under the GPL; the others don't.
 - (2) According to Richard Stallman, 1.6.1 is not GPL-compatible, because its license has a choice of law clause. According to CNRI, however, Stallman's lawyer has told CNRI's lawyer that 1.6.1
is "not incompatible" with the GPL.

Thanks to the many outside volunteers who have worked under Guido's direction to make these releases possible.

This module serves to replace the original parser module written by Guido. The functionality is not matched precisely, but the original may be implemented on top of this. This is desirable since the source of the text to be parsed is now divorced from this interface.

Unlike the prior interface, the ability to give a parse tree produced by Python code as a tuple to the compiler is enabled by this module. See the documentation for more details.

I've added some annotations that help with the lint code-checking program, but they're not complete by a long shot. The real errors that lint detects are gone, but there are still warnings with `Py_[X]DECREF()` and `Py_[X]INCREf()` macros. The lint annotations look like "NOTE(...)".

This configure script is free software; the Free Software Foundation gives unlimited permission to copy, distribute and modify it.

- (1) GPL-compatible doesn't mean that we're distributing Python under the GPL. All Python licenses, unlike the GPL, let you distribute a modified version without making your changes open source. The GPL-compatible licenses make it possible to combine Python with other software that is released under the GPL; the others don't.
 - (2) According to Richard Stallman, 1.6.1 is not GPL-compatible, because its license has a choice of law clause. According to CNRI, however, Stallman's lawyer has told CNRI's lawyer that 1.6.1 is "not incompatible" with the GPL.

Thanks to the many outside volunteers who have worked under Guido's direction to make these releases possible.

This module serves to replace the original parser module written by Guido. The functionality is not matched precisely, but the original may be implemented on top of this. This is desirable since the source of the text to be parsed is now divorced from this interface.

Unlike the prior interface, the ability to give a parse tree produced by Python code as a tuple to the compiler is enabled by this module. See the documentation for more details.

I've added some annotations that help with the lint code-checking program, but they're not complete by a long shot. The real errors that lint detects are gone, but there are still warnings with `Py_[X]DECREF()` and `Py_[X]INCREf()` macros. The lint annotations look like "NOTE(...)".

This configure script is free software; the Free Software Foundation gives unlimited permission to copy, distribute and modify it.

- (1) GPL-compatible doesn't mean that we're distributing Python under the GPL. All Python licenses, unlike the GPL, let you distribute a modified version without making your changes open source. The GPL-compatible licenses make it possible to combine Python with other software that is released under the GPL; the others don't.
- (2) According to Richard Stallman, 1.6.1 is not GPL-compatible, because its license has a choice of law clause. According to CNRI, however, Stallman's lawyer has told CNRI's lawyer that 1.6.1 is "not incompatible" with the GPL.

Thanks to the many outside volunteers who have worked under Guido's direction to make these releases possible.

This module serves to replace the original parser module written by Guido. The functionality is not matched precisely, but the original may be implemented on top of this. This is desirable since the source of the text to be parsed is now divorced from this interface.

Unlike the prior interface, the ability to give a parse tree produced by Python code as a tuple to the compiler is enabled by this module. See the documentation for more details.

I've added some annotations that help with the lint code-checking program, but they're not complete by a long shot. The real errors that lint detects are gone, but there are still warnings with Py_[X]DECREF() and Py_[X]INCREf() macros. The lint annotations look like "NOTE(...)".

A "contribution" is the original software, or any additions or changes to the software.

A "contributor" is any person that distributes its contribution under this license.

"Licensed patents" are a contributor's patent claims that read directly on its contribution.

2. Grant of Rights

(A) Copyright Grant- Subject to the terms of this license, including the license conditions and limitations in section 3, each contributor grants you a non-exclusive, worldwide, royalty-free copyright license to reproduce its contribution, prepare derivative works of its contribution, and distribute its contribution or any derivative works that you create.

(B) Patent Grant- Subject to the terms of this license, including the license conditions and limitations in section 3, each contributor grants you a non-exclusive, worldwide, royalty-free license under its licensed patents to make, have made, use, sell, offer for sale, import, and/or otherwise dispose of its contribution in the software or derivative works of the contribution in the software.

3. Conditions and Limitations

(A) Reciprocal Grants- For any file you distribute that contains code from the software (in source code or binary format), you must provide recipients the source code to that file along with a copy of this license, which license will govern that file. You may license other files that are entirely your own work and do not contain code from the software under any terms you choose.

(B) No Trademark License- This license does not grant you rights to use any contributors' name, logo, or trademarks.

(C) If you bring a patent claim against any contributor over patents that you claim are infringed by the software, your patent license from such contributor to the software ends automatically.

(D) If you distribute any portion of the software, you must retain all copyright, patent, trademark, and attribution notices that are present in the software.

(E) If you distribute any portion of the software in source code form, you may do so only under this license by including a complete copy of this license with your distribution. If you distribute any portion of the software in compiled or object code form, you may only do so under a license that complies with this license.

(F) The software is licensed "as-is." You bear the risk of using it. The contributors give no express warranties, guarantees or conditions. You may have additional consumer rights under your local laws which this license cannot change. To the extent permitted under your local laws, the contributors exclude the implied warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose and non-infringement

2. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License Agreement, CNRI hereby grants Licensee a nonexclusive, royalty-free, world-wide license to reproduce, analyze, test, perform and/or display publicly, prepare derivative works, distribute, and otherwise use Python 1.6.1 alone or in any derivative version, provided, however, that CNRI's License Agreement and CNRI's notice of copyright, i.e., "Copyright (c) 1995-2001 Corporation for National Research Initiatives All Rights Reserved" are retained in Python 1.6.1 alone or in any derivative version prepared by Licensee. Alternately, in lieu of CNRI's License Agreement, Licensee may substitute the following text (omitting the quotes): "Python 1.6.1 is made available subject to the terms and conditions in CNRI's License Agreement. 5. CNRI SHALL NOT BE LIABLE TO LICENSEE OR ANY OTHER USERS OF PYTHON 1.6.1 FOR ANY INCIDENTAL, SPECIAL, OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES OR LOSS AS A RESULT OF MODIFYING, DISTRIBUTING, OR OTHERWISE USING PYTHON 1.6.1, OR ANY DERIVATIVE THEREOF, EVEN IF ADVISED OF THE POSSIBILITY THEREOF.

6. This License Agreement will automatically terminate upon a material breach of its terms and conditions.

7. This License Agreement shall be governed by the federal intellectual property law of the United States, including without limitation the federal copyright law, and, to the extent such U.S. federal law does not apply, by the law of the Commonwealth of Virginia, excluding Virginia's conflict of law provisions. Notwithstanding the foregoing, with regard to derivative works based on Python 1.6.1 that incorporate non-separable material that was previously distributed under the GNU General Public License (GPL), the law of the Commonwealth of Virginia shall govern this License Agreement only as to issues arising under or with respect to Paragraphs 4, 5, and 7 of this License Agreement. Nothing in this License Agreement shall be deemed to create any relationship of agency, partnership, or joint venture between CNRI and Licensee. This License Agreement does not grant permission to use CNRI trademarks or trade name in a trademark sense to endorse or promote products or services of Licensee, or any third party.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR USE, REPRODUCTION, AND DISTRIBUTION

1. Definitions.

"License" shall mean the terms and conditions for use, reproduction, and distribution as defined by Sections 1 through 9 of this document.

"Licensor" shall mean the copyright owner or entity authorized by the copyright owner that is granting the License.

"Legal Entity" shall mean the union of the acting entity and all other entities that control, are controlled by, or are under common control with that entity. For the purposes of this definition, "control" means (i) the power, direct or indirect, to cause the direction or management of such entity, whether by contract or otherwise, or (ii) ownership of fifty percent (50%) or more of the outstanding shares, or (iii) beneficial ownership of such entity.

"You" (or "Your") shall mean an individual or Legal Entity exercising permissions granted by this License.

"Source" form shall mean the preferred form for making modifications, including but not limited to software source code, documentation source, and configuration files.

"Object" form shall mean any form resulting from mechanical transformation or translation of a Source form, including but not limited to compiled object code, generated documentation, and conversions to other media types.

"Work" shall mean the work of authorship, whether in Source or Object form, made available under the License, as indicated by a copyright notice that is included in or attached to the work (an example is provided in the Appendix below).

"Derivative Works" shall mean any work, whether in Source or Object form, that is based on (or derived from) the Work and for which the editorial revisions, annotations, elaborations, or other modifications represent, as a whole, an original work of authorship. For the purposes of this License, Derivative Works shall not include works that remain separable from, or merely link (or bind by name) to the interfaces of, the Work and Derivative Works thereof.

"Contribution" shall mean any work of authorship, including the original version of the Work and any modifications or additions to that Work or Derivative Works thereof, that is intentionally submitted to Licensor for inclusion in the Work by the copyright owner or by an individual or Legal Entity authorized to submit on behalf of the copyright owner. For the purposes of this definition, "submitted" means any form of electronic, verbal, or written communication sent to the Licensor or its representatives, including but not limited to communication on electronic mailing lists, source code control systems, and issue tracking systems that are managed by, or on behalf of, the Licensor for the purpose of discussing and improving the Work, but excluding communication that is conspicuously marked or otherwise designated in writing by the copyright owner as "Not a Contribution."

"Contributor" shall mean Licensor and any individual or Legal Entity on behalf of whom a Contribution has been received by Licensor and subsequently incorporated within the Work.

2. Grant of Copyright License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable copyright license to reproduce, prepare Derivative Works of, publicly display, publicly perform, sublicense, and distribute the Work and such Derivative Works in Source or Object form.
3. Grant of Patent License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable (except as stated in this section) patent license to make, have made, use, offer to sell, sell, import, and otherwise transfer the Work, where such license applies only to those patent claims licensable by such Contributor that are necessarily infringed by their Contribution(s) alone or by combination of their Contribution(s) with the Work to which such Contribution(s) was submitted. If You institute patent litigation against any entity (including a cross-claim or counterclaim in a lawsuit) alleging that the Work or a Contribution incorporated within the Work constitutes direct or contributory patent infringement, then any patent licenses granted to You under this License for that Work shall terminate as of the date such litigation is filed.
4. Redistribution. You may reproduce and distribute copies of the Work or Derivative Works thereof in any medium, with or without modifications, and in Source or Object form, provided that You meet the following conditions:
 - (a) You must give any other recipients of the Work or Derivative Works a copy of this License and
 - (b) You must cause any modified files to carry prominent notices stating that You changed the files and
 - (c) You must retain, in the Source form of any Derivative Works that You distribute, all copyright, patent, trademark, and attribution notices from the Source form of the Work, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works and
 - (d) If the Work includes a "NOTICE" text file as part of its distribution, then any Derivative Works that You distribute must include a readable copy of the attribution notices contained within such NOTICE file, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works, in at least one of the following places: within a NOTICE text file distributed as part of the Derivative Works within the Source form or documentation, if provided along with the Derivative Works or, within a display generated by the Derivative Works, if and wherever such third-party notices normally appear. The contents of the NOTICE file are for informational purposes only and do not modify the License. You may add Your own attribution notices within Derivative Works that You distribute, alongside or as an addendum to the NOTICE text from the Work, provided that such additional attribution notices cannot be construed as modifying the License.

You may add Your own copyright statement to Your modifications and may provide additional or different license terms and conditions for use, reproduction, or distribution of Your modifications, or for any such Derivative Works as a whole, provided Your use, reproduction, and distribution of the Work otherwise complies with the conditions stated in this License.

5. Submission of Contributions. Unless You explicitly state otherwise, any Contribution intentionally submitted for inclusion in the Work by You to the Licensor shall be under the terms and conditions of this License, without any additional terms or conditions. Notwithstanding the above, nothing herein shall supersede or modify the terms of any separate license agreement you may have executed with Licensor regarding such Contributions.
6. Trademarks. This License does not grant permission to use the trade names, trademarks, service marks, or product names of the Licensor, except as required for reasonable and customary use in describing the origin of the Work and reproducing the content of the NOTICE file.
7. Disclaimer of Warranty. Unless required by applicable law or agreed to in writing, Licensor provides the Work (and each Contributor provides its Contributions) on an "AS IS" BASIS, WITHOUT WARRANTIES OR CONDITIONS OF ANY KIND, either express or implied, including, without limitation, any warranties or conditions of TITLE, NON-INFRINGEMENT, MERCHANTABILITY, or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. You are solely responsible for determining the appropriateness of using or redistributing the Work and assume any risks associated with Your exercise of permissions under this License.
8. Limitation of Liability. In no event and under no legal theory, whether in tort (including negligence), contract, or otherwise, unless required by applicable law (such as deliberate and grossly negligent acts) or agreed to in writing, shall any Contributor be liable to You for damages, including any direct, indirect, special, incidental, or consequential damages of any character arising as a result of this License or out of the use or inability to use the Work (including but not limited to damages for loss of goodwill, work stoppage, computer failure or malfunction, or any and all other commercial damages or losses), even if such Contributor has been advised of the possibility of such damages.
9. Accepting Warranty or Additional Liability. While redistributing the Work or Derivative Works thereof, You may choose to offer, and charge a fee for, acceptance of support, warranty, indemnity, or other liability obligations and/or rights consistent with this License. However, in accepting such obligations, You may act only on Your own behalf and on Your sole responsibility, not on behalf of any other Contributor, and only if You agree to indemnify, defend, and hold each Contributor harmless for any liability incurred by, or claims asserted against, such Contributor by reason of your accepting any such warranty or additional liability

Modified by Jack Jansen, CWI, July 1995:

- Use binascii module to do the actual line-by-line conversion between ascii and binary. This results in a 1000-fold speedup. The C version is still 5 times faster, though.
- Arguments more compliant with python standard

This module serves to replace the original parser module written by Guido. The functionality is not matched precisely, but the original may be implemented on top of this. This is desirable since the source of the text to be parsed is now divorced from this interface.

Unlike the prior interface, the ability to give a parse tree produced by Python code as a tuple to the compiler is enabled by this module. See the documentation for more details.

I've added some annotations that help with the lint code-checking program, but they're not complete by a long shot. The real errors that lint detects are gone, but there are still warnings with `Py_[X]DECREF()` and `Py_[X]INCREF()` macros. The lint annotations look like "NOTE(...)".

Microsoft Reciprocal License (MS-RL)

This license governs use of the accompanying software. If you use the software, you accept this license. If you do not accept the license, do not use the software.

1. Definitions

The terms "reproduce," "reproduction," "derivative works," and "distribution" have the same meaning here as under U.S. copyright law.

A "contribution" is the original software, or any additions or changes to the software.

A "contributor" is any person that distributes its contribution under this license.

"Licensed patents" are a contributor's patent claims that read directly on its contribution.

2. Grant of Rights

(A) Copyright Grant- Subject to the terms of this license, including the license conditions and limitations in section 3, each contributor grants you a non-exclusive, worldwide, royalty-free copyright license to reproduce its contribution, prepare derivative works of its contribution, and distribute its contribution or any derivative works that you create.

(B) Patent Grant- Subject to the terms of this license, including the license conditions and limitations in section 3, each contributor grants you a non-exclusive, worldwide, royalty-free license under its licensed patents to make, have made, use, sell, offer for sale, import, and/or otherwise dispose of its contribution in the software or derivative works of the contribution in the software.

3. Conditions and Limitations

(A) Reciprocal Grants- For any file you distribute that contains code from the software (in source code or binary format), you must provide recipients the source code to that file along with a copy of this license, which license will govern that file. You may license other files that are entirely your own work and do not contain code from the software under any terms you choose.

(B) No Trademark License- This license does not grant you rights to use any contributors' name, logo, or trademarks.

(C) If you bring a patent claim against any contributor over patents that you claim are infringed by the software, your patent license from such contributor to the software ends automatically.

(D) If you distribute any portion of the software, you must retain all copyright, patent, trademark, and attribution notices that are present in the software.

(E) If you distribute any portion of the software in source code form, you may do so only under this license by including a complete copy of this license with your distribution. If you distribute any portion of the software in compiled or object code form, you may only do so under a license that complies with this license.

(F) The software is licensed "as-is." You bear the risk of using it. The contributors give no express warranties, guarantees or conditions. You may have additional consumer rights under your local laws which this license cannot change. To the extent permitted under your local laws, the contributors exclude the implied warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose and non-infringement

CNRI LICENSE AGREEMENT FOR PYTHON 1.6.1

1. This LICENSE AGREEMENT is between the Corporation for National Research Initiatives, having an office at 1895 Preston White Drive, Reston, VA 20191 ("CNRI"), and the Individual or Organization ("Licensee") accessing and otherwise using Python 1.6.1 software in source or binary form and its associated documentation.

2. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License Agreement, CNRI hereby grants Licensee a nonexclusive, royalty-free, world-wide license to reproduce, analyze, test, perform and/or display publicly, prepare derivative works, distribute, and otherwise use Python 1.6.1 alone or in any derivative version, provided, however, that CNRI's License Agreement and CNRI's notice of copyright, i.e., "Copyright (c) 1995-2001 Corporation for National Research Initiatives All Rights Reserved" are retained in Python 1.6.1 alone or in any derivative version prepared by Licensee. Alternately, in lieu of CNRI's License Agreement, Licensee may substitute the following text (omitting the quotes): "Python 1.6.1 is made available subject to the terms and conditions in CNRI's License Agreement. This Agreement together with Python 1.6.1 may be located on the Internet using the following unique, persistent identifier (known as a handle): 1895.22/1013. This Agreement may also be obtained from a proxy server on the Internet using the following URL: <http://hdl.handle.net/1895.22/1013>".

3. In the event Licensee prepares a derivative work that is based on or incorporates Python 1.6.1 or any part thereof, and wants to make the derivative work available to others as provided herein, then Licensee hereby agrees to include in any such work a brief summary of the changes made to Python 1.6.1.

4. CNRI is making Python 1.6.1 available to Licensee on an "AS IS" basis. CNRI MAKES NO REPRESENTATIONS OR WARRANTIES, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED. BY WAY OF EXAMPLE, BUT NOT LIMITATION, CNRI MAKES NO AND DISCLAIMS ANY REPRESENTATION OR WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR ANY PARTICULAR PURPOSE OR THAT THE USE OF PYTHON 1.6.1 WILL NOT INFRINGE ANY THIRD PARTY RIGHTS.

5. CNRI SHALL NOT BE LIABLE TO LICENSEE OR ANY OTHER USERS OF PYTHON 1.6.1 FOR ANY INCIDENTAL, SPECIAL, OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES OR LOSS AS A RESULT OF MODIFYING, DISTRIBUTING, OR OTHERWISE USING PYTHON 1.6.1, OR ANY DERIVATIVE THEREOF, EVEN IF ADVISED OF THE POSSIBILITY THEREOF.

6. This License Agreement will automatically terminate upon a material breach of its terms and conditions.

7. This License Agreement shall be governed by the federal intellectual property law of the United States, including without limitation the federal copyright law, and, to the extent such U.S. federal law does not apply, by the law of the Commonwealth of Virginia, excluding Virginia's conflict of law provisions. Notwithstanding the foregoing, with regard to derivative works based on Python 1.6.1 that incorporate non-separable material that was previously distributed under the GNU General Public License (GPL), the law of the Commonwealth of Virginia shall govern this License Agreement only as to issues arising under or with respect to Paragraphs 4, 5, and 7 of this License Agreement. Nothing in this License Agreement shall be deemed to create any relationship of agency, partnership, or joint venture between CNRI and Licensee. This License Agreement does not grant permission to use CNRI trademarks or trade name in a trademark sense to endorse or promote products or services of Licensee, or any third party.

8. By clicking on the "ACCEPT" button where indicated, or by copying, installing or otherwise using Python 1.6.1, Licensee agrees to be bound by the terms and conditions of this License Agreement.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR USE, REPRODUCTION, AND DISTRIBUTION

1. Definitions.

"License" shall mean the terms and conditions for use, reproduction, and distribution as defined by Sections 1 through 9 of this document.

"Licensor" shall mean the copyright owner or entity authorized by the copyright owner that is granting the License.

"Legal Entity" shall mean the union of the acting entity and all other entities that control, are controlled by, or are under common control with that entity. For the purposes of this definition, "control" means (i) the power, direct or indirect, to cause the direction or management of such entity, whether by contract or otherwise, or (ii) ownership of fifty percent (50%) or more of the outstanding shares, or (iii) beneficial ownership of such entity.

"You" (or "Your") shall mean an individual or Legal Entity exercising permissions granted by this License.

"Source" form shall mean the preferred form for making modifications, including but not limited to software source code, documentation source, and configuration files.

"Object" form shall mean any form resulting from mechanical transformation or translation of a Source form, including but not limited to compiled object code, generated documentation, and conversions to other media types.

"Work" shall mean the work of authorship, whether in Source or Object form, made available under the License, as indicated by a copyright notice that is included in or attached to the work (an example is provided in the Appendix below).

"Derivative Works" shall mean any work, whether in Source or Object form, that is based on (or derived from) the Work and for which the editorial revisions, annotations, elaborations, or other modifications represent, as a whole, an original work of authorship. For the purposes of this License, Derivative Works shall not include works that remain separable from, or merely link (or bind by name) to the interfaces of, the Work and Derivative Works thereof.

"Contribution" shall mean any work of authorship, including the original version of the Work and any modifications or additions to that Work or Derivative Works thereof, that is intentionally submitted to Licensor for inclusion in the Work by the copyright owner or by an individual or Legal Entity authorized to submit on behalf of the copyright owner. For the purposes of this definition, "submitted" means any form of electronic, verbal, or written communication sent to the Licensor or its representatives, including but not limited to communication on electronic mailing lists, source code control systems, and issue tracking systems that are managed by, or on behalf of, the Licensor for the purpose of discussing and improving the Work, but excluding communication that is conspicuously marked or otherwise designated in writing by the copyright owner as "Not a Contribution."

"Contributor" shall mean Licensor and any individual or Legal Entity on behalf of whom a Contribution has been received by Licensor and subsequently incorporated within the Work.

2. Grant of Copyright License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable copyright license to reproduce, prepare Derivative Works of, publicly display, publicly perform, sublicense, and distribute the Work and such Derivative Works in Source or Object form.

3. Grant of Patent License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable (except as stated in this section) patent license to make, have made, use, offer to sell, sell, import, and otherwise transfer the Work, where such license applies only to those patent claims licensable by such Contributor that are necessarily infringed by their Contribution(s) alone or by combination of their Contribution(s) with the Work to which such Contribution(s) was submitted. If You institute patent litigation against any entity (including a cross-claim or counterclaim in a lawsuit) alleging that the Work or a Contribution incorporated within the Work constitutes direct or contributory patent infringement, then any patent licenses granted to You under this License for that Work shall terminate as of the date such litigation is filed.
4. Redistribution. You may reproduce and distribute copies of the Work or Derivative Works thereof in any medium, with or without modifications, and in Source or Object form, provided that You meet the following conditions:
 - (a) You must give any other recipients of the Work or Derivative Works a copy of this License and
 - (b) You must cause any modified files to carry prominent notices stating that You changed the files and
 - (c) You must retain, in the Source form of any Derivative Works that You distribute, all copyright, patent, trademark, and attribution notices from the Source form of the Work, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works and
 - (d) If the Work includes a "NOTICE" text file as part of its distribution, then any Derivative Works that You distribute must include a readable copy of the attribution notices contained within such NOTICE file, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works, in at least one of the following places: within a NOTICE text file distributed as part of the Derivative Works within the Source form or documentation, if provided along with the Derivative Works or, within a display generated by the Derivative Works, if and wherever such third-party notices normally appear. The contents of the NOTICE file are for informational purposes only and do not modify the License. You may add Your own attribution notices within Derivative Works that You distribute, alongside or as an addendum to the NOTICE text from the Work, provided that such additional attribution notices cannot be construed as modifying the License.

You may add Your own copyright statement to Your modifications and may provide additional or different license terms and conditions for use, reproduction, or distribution of Your modifications, or for any such Derivative Works as a whole, provided Your use, reproduction, and distribution of the Work otherwise complies with the conditions stated in this License.

5. Submission of Contributions. Unless You explicitly state otherwise, any Contribution intentionally submitted for inclusion in the Work by You to the Licensor shall be under the terms and conditions of this License, without any additional terms or conditions. Notwithstanding the above, nothing herein shall supersede or modify the terms of any separate license agreement you may have executed with Licensor regarding such Contributions.

6. Trademarks. This License does not grant permission to use the trade names, trademarks, service marks, or product names of the Licensor, except as required for reasonable and customary use in describing the origin of the Work and reproducing the content of the NOTICE file.
7. Disclaimer of Warranty. Unless required by applicable law or agreed to in writing, Licensor provides the Work (and each Contributor provides its Contributions) on an "AS IS" BASIS, WITHOUT WARRANTIES OR CONDITIONS OF ANY KIND, either express or implied, including, without limitation, any warranties or conditions of TITLE, NON-INFRINGEMENT, MERCHANTABILITY, or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. You are solely responsible for determining the appropriateness of using or redistributing the Work and assume any risks associated with Your exercise of permissions under this License.
8. Limitation of Liability. In no event and under no legal theory, whether in tort (including negligence), contract, or otherwise, unless required by applicable law (such as deliberate and grossly negligent acts) or agreed to in writing, shall any Contributor be liable to You for damages, including any direct, indirect, special, incidental, or consequential damages of any character arising as a result of this License or out of the use or inability to use the Work (including but not limited to damages for loss of goodwill, work stoppage, computer failure or malfunction, or any and all other commercial damages or losses), even if such Contributor has been advised of the possibility of such damages.
9. Accepting Warranty or Additional Liability. While redistributing the Work or Derivative Works thereof, You may choose to offer, and charge a fee for, acceptance of support, warranty, indemnity, or other liability obligations and/or rights consistent with this License. However, in accepting such obligations, You may act only on Your own behalf and on Your sole responsibility, not on behalf of any other Contributor, and only if You agree to indemnify, defend, and hold each Contributor harmless for any liability incurred by, or claims asserted against, such Contributor by reason of your accepting any such warranty or additional liability

Modified by Jack Jansen, CWI, July 1995:

- Use binascii module to do the actual line-by-line conversion between ascii and binary. This results in a 1000-fold speedup. The C version is still 5 times faster, though.
 - Arguments more compliant with python standard

This module serves to replace the original parser module written by Guido. The functionality is not matched precisely, but the original may be implemented on top of this. This is desirable since the source of the text to be parsed is now divorced from this interface.

Unlike the prior interface, the ability to give a parse tree produced by Python code as a tuple to the compiler is enabled by this module. See the documentation for more details.

I've added some annotations that help with the lint code-checking program, but they're not complete by a long shot. The real errors that lint detects are gone, but there are still warnings with `Py_[X]DECREF()` and `Py_[X]INCREf()` macros. The lint annotations look like "NOTE(...)".

Microsoft Reciprocal License (MS-RL)

This license governs use of the accompanying software. If you use the software, you accept this license. If you do not accept the license, do not use the software.

1. Definitions

The terms "reproduce," "reproduction," "derivative works," and "distribution" have the same meaning here as under U.S. copyright law.

A "contribution" is the original software, or any additions or changes to the software.
A "contributor" is any person that distributes its contribution under this license.
"Licensed patents" are a contributor's patent claims that read directly on its contribution.

2. Grant of Rights

(A) Copyright Grant- Subject to the terms of this license, including the license conditions and limitations in section 3, each contributor grants you a non-exclusive, worldwide, royalty-free copyright license to reproduce its contribution, prepare derivative works of its contribution, and distribute its contribution or any derivative works that you create.

(B) Patent Grant- Subject to the terms of this license, including the license conditions and limitations in section 3, each contributor grants you a non-exclusive, worldwide, royalty-free license under its licensed patents to make, have made, use, sell, offer for sale, import, and/or otherwise dispose of its contribution in the software or derivative works of the contribution in the software.

3. Conditions and Limitations

(A) Reciprocal Grants- For any file you distribute that contains code from the software (in source code or binary format), you must provide recipients the source code to that file along with a copy of this license, which license will govern that file. You may license other files that are entirely your own work and do not contain code from the software under any terms you choose.

(B) No Trademark License- This license does not grant you rights to use any contributors' name, logo, or trademarks.

(C) If you bring a patent claim against any contributor over patents that you claim are infringed by the software, your patent license from such contributor to the software ends automatically.

(D) If you distribute any portion of the software, you must retain all copyright, patent, trademark, and attribution notices that are present in the software.

(E) If you distribute any portion of the software in source code form, you may do so only under this license by including a complete copy of this license with your distribution. If you distribute any portion of the software in compiled or object code form, you may only do so under a license that complies with this license.

(F) The software is licensed "as-is." You bear the risk of using it. The contributors give no express warranties, guarantees or conditions. You may have additional consumer rights under your local laws which this license cannot change. To the extent permitted under your local laws, the contributors exclude the implied warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose and non-infringement

Alternately, in lieu of CNRI's License Agreement, Licensee may substitute the following text (omitting the quotes): "Python 1.6.1 is made available subject to the terms and conditions in CNRI's License Agreement. This Agreement together with Python 1.6.1 may be located on the Internet using the following unique, persistent identifier (known as a handle): 1895.22/1013. This Agreement may also be obtained from a proxy server on the Internet using the following URL: <http://hdl.handle.net/1895.22/1013>".

3. In the event Licensee prepares a derivative work that is based on or incorporates Python 1.6.1 or any part thereof, and wants to make the derivative work available to others as provided herein, then Licensee hereby agrees to include in any such work a brief summary of the changes made to Python 1.6.1.

4. CNRI is making Python 1.6.1 available to Licensee on an "AS IS" basis. CNRI MAKES NO REPRESENTATIONS OR WARRANTIES, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED. BY WAY OF EXAMPLE, BUT NOT LIMITATION, CNRI MAKES NO AND DISCLAIMS ANY REPRESENTATION OR WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS

FOR ANY PARTICULAR PURPOSE OR THAT THE USE OF PYTHON 1.6.1 WILL NOT INFRINGE ANY THIRD PARTY RIGHTS.

5. CNRI SHALL NOT BE LIABLE TO LICENSEE OR ANY OTHER USERS OF PYTHON 1.6.1 FOR ANY INCIDENTAL, SPECIAL, OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES OR LOSS AS A RESULT OF MODIFYING, DISTRIBUTING, OR OTHERWISE USING PYTHON 1.6.1, OR ANY DERIVATIVE THEREOF, EVEN IF ADVISED OF THE POSSIBILITY THEREOF.

6. This License Agreement will automatically terminate upon a material breach of its terms and conditions.

7. This License Agreement shall be governed by the federal intellectual property law of the United States, including without limitation the federal copyright law, and, to the extent such U.S. federal law does not apply, by the law of the Commonwealth of Virginia, excluding Virginia's conflict of law provisions. Notwithstanding the foregoing, with regard to derivative works based on Python 1.6.1 that incorporate non-separable material that was previously distributed under the GNU General Public License (GPL), the law of the Commonwealth of Virginia shall govern this License Agreement only as to issues arising under or with respect to Paragraphs 4, 5, and 7 of this License Agreement. Nothing in this License Agreement shall be deemed to create any relationship of agency, partnership, or joint venture between CNRI and Licensee. This License Agreement does not grant permission to use CNRI trademarks or trade name in a trademark sense to endorse or promote products or services of Licensee, or any third party.

8. By clicking on the "ACCEPT" button where indicated, or by copying, installing or otherwise using Python 1.6.1, Licensee agrees to be bound by the terms and conditions of this License Agreement.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR USE, REPRODUCTION, AND DISTRIBUTION

1. Definitions.

"License" shall mean the terms and conditions for use, reproduction, and distribution as defined by Sections 1 through 9 of this document.

"Licensor" shall mean the copyright owner or entity authorized by the copyright owner that is granting the License.

"Legal Entity" shall mean the union of the acting entity and all other entities that control, are controlled by, or are under common control with that entity. For the purposes of this definition, "control" means (i) the power, direct or indirect, to cause the direction or management of such entity, whether by contract or otherwise, or (ii) ownership of fifty percent (50%) or more of the outstanding shares, or (iii) beneficial ownership of such entity.

"You" (or "Your") shall mean an individual or Legal Entity exercising permissions granted by this License.

"Source" form shall mean the preferred form for making modifications, including but not limited to software source code, documentation source, and configuration files.

"Object" form shall mean any form resulting from mechanical transformation or translation of a Source form, including but not limited to compiled object code, generated documentation, and conversions to other media types.

"Work" shall mean the work of authorship, whether in Source or Object form, made available under the License, as indicated by a copyright notice that is included in or attached to the work (an example is provided in the Appendix below).

"Derivative Works" shall mean any work, whether in Source or Object form, that is based on (or derived from) the Work and for which the editorial revisions, annotations, elaborations, or other modifications represent, as a whole, an original work of authorship. For the purposes of this License, Derivative Works shall not include works that remain separable from, or merely link (or bind by name) to the interfaces of, the Work and Derivative Works thereof.

"Contribution" shall mean any work of authorship, including the original version of the Work and any modifications or additions to that Work or Derivative Works thereof, that is intentionally submitted to Licensor for inclusion in the Work by the copyright owner or by an individual or Legal Entity authorized to submit on behalf of the copyright owner. For the purposes of this definition, "submitted" means any form of electronic, verbal, or written communication sent to the Licensor or its representatives, including but not limited to communication on electronic mailing lists, source code control systems, and issue tracking systems that are managed by, or on behalf of, the Licensor for the purpose of discussing and improving the Work, but excluding communication that is conspicuously marked or otherwise designated in writing by the copyright owner as "Not a Contribution."

"Contributor" shall mean Licensor and any individual or Legal Entity on behalf of whom a Contribution has been received by Licensor and subsequently incorporated within the Work.

2. Grant of Copyright License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable copyright license to reproduce, prepare Derivative Works of, publicly display, publicly perform, sublicense, and distribute the Work and such Derivative Works in Source or Object form.
3. Grant of Patent License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable

(except as stated in this section) patent license to make, have made, use, offer to sell, sell, import, and otherwise transfer the Work, where such license applies only to those patent claims licensable by such Contributor that are necessarily infringed by their Contribution(s) alone or by combination of their Contribution(s) with the Work to which such Contribution(s) was submitted. If You institute patent litigation against any entity (including a cross-claim or counterclaim in a lawsuit) alleging that the Work or a Contribution incorporated within the Work constitutes direct or contributory patent infringement, then any patent licenses granted to You under this License for that Work shall terminate as of the date such litigation is filed.

4. Redistribution. You may reproduce and distribute copies of the Work or Derivative Works thereof in any medium, with or without modifications, and in Source or Object form, provided that You meet the following conditions:

- (a) You must give any other recipients of the Work or Derivative Works a copy of this License and
- (b) You must cause any modified files to carry prominent notices stating that You changed the files and
- (c) You must retain, in the Source form of any Derivative Works that You distribute, all copyright, patent, trademark, and attribution notices from the Source form of the Work, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works and
- (d) If the Work includes a "NOTICE" text file as part of its distribution, then any Derivative Works that You distribute must include a readable copy of the attribution notices contained within such NOTICE file, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works, in at least one of the following places: within a NOTICE text file distributed as part of the Derivative Works within the Source form or documentation, if provided along with the Derivative Works or, within a display generated by the Derivative Works, if and wherever such third-party notices normally appear. The contents of the NOTICE file are for informational purposes only and do not modify the License. You may add Your own attribution notices within Derivative Works that You distribute, alongside or as an addendum to the NOTICE text from the Work, provided that such additional attribution notices cannot be construed as modifying the License.

You may add Your own copyright statement to Your modifications and may provide additional or different license terms and conditions for use, reproduction, or distribution of Your modifications, or for any such Derivative Works as a whole, provided Your use, reproduction, and distribution of the Work otherwise complies with the conditions stated in this License.

5. Submission of Contributions. Unless You explicitly state otherwise, any Contribution intentionally submitted for inclusion in the Work by You to the Licensor shall be under the terms and conditions of this License, without any additional terms or conditions. Notwithstanding the above, nothing herein shall supersede or modify the terms of any separate license agreement you may have executed with Licensor regarding such Contributions.

6. Trademarks. This License does not grant permission to use the trade names, trademarks, service marks, or product names of the Licensor, except as required for reasonable and customary use in describing the origin of the Work and reproducing the content of the NOTICE file.
7. Disclaimer of Warranty. Unless required by applicable law or agreed to in writing, Licensor provides the Work (and each Contributor provides its Contributions) on an "AS IS" BASIS, WITHOUT WARRANTIES OR CONDITIONS OF ANY KIND, either express or implied, including, without limitation, any warranties or conditions of TITLE, NON-INFRINGEMENT, MERCHANTABILITY, or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. You are solely responsible for determining the appropriateness of using or redistributing the Work and assume any risks associated with Your exercise of permissions under this License.
8. Limitation of Liability. In no event and under no legal theory, whether in tort (including negligence), contract, or otherwise, unless required by applicable law (such as deliberate and grossly negligent acts) or agreed to in writing, shall any Contributor be liable to You for damages, including any direct, indirect, special, incidental, or consequential damages of any character arising as a result of this License or out of the use or inability to use the Work (including but not limited to damages for loss of goodwill, work stoppage, computer failure or malfunction, or any and all other commercial damages or losses), even if such Contributor has been advised of the possibility of such damages.
9. Accepting Warranty or Additional Liability. While redistributing the Work or Derivative Works thereof, You may choose to offer, and charge a fee for, acceptance of support, warranty, indemnity, or other liability obligations and/or rights consistent with this License. However, in accepting such obligations, You may act only on Your own behalf and on Your sole responsibility, not on behalf of any other Contributor, and only if You agree to indemnify, defend, and hold each Contributor harmless for any liability incurred by, or claims asserted against, such Contributor by reason of your accepting any such warranty or additional liability

Modified by Jack Jansen, CWI, July 1995:

- Use binascii module to do the actual line-by-line conversion between ascii and binary. This results in a 1000-fold speedup. The C version is still 5 times faster, though.
- Arguments more compliant with python standard

This module serves to replace the original parser module written by Guido. The functionality is not matched precisely, but the original may be implemented on top of this. This is desirable since the source of the text to be parsed is now divorced from this interface.

Unlike the prior interface, the ability to give a parse tree produced by Python code as a tuple to the compiler is enabled by this module. See the documentation for more details.

I've added some annotations that help with the lint code-checking program, but they're not complete by a long shot. The real errors that lint detects are gone, but there are still warnings with `Py_[X]DECREF()` and `Py_[X]INCREf()` macros. The lint annotations look like "NOTE(...)".

fsck --- A generic, parallelizing front-end for the fsck program.
It will automatically try to run fsck programs in parallel if the devices are on separate spindles. It is based on the same ideas as the generic front end for fsck by David Engel and Fred van Kempen,
but it has been completely rewritten from scratch to support
parallel execution.

Written by Theodore Ts'o, <tytso@mit.edu>

Miquel van Smoorenburg (miquels@drinkel.ow.org) 20-Oct-1994:

- o Changed -t fstype to behave like with mount when -A (all file systems) or -M (like mount) is specified.
- o fsck looks if it can find the fsck.type program to decide if it should ignore the fs type. This way more fsck programs can be added without changing this front-end.
- o -R flag skip root file system.

COPYRIGHT (C) 1986 Gary S. Brown. You may use this program, or code or tables extracted from it, as desired without restriction.

First, the polynomial itself and its table of feedback terms. The polynomial is

$X^{32}+X^{26}+X^{23}+X^{22}+X^{16}+X^{12}+X^{11}+X^{10}+X^8+X^7+X^5+X^4+X^2+X^1+X^0$

Note that we take it "backwards" and put the highest-order term in the lowest-order bit. The X^{32} term is "implied"; the LSB is the X^{31} term, etc. The X^0 term (usually shown as "+1") results in the MSB being 1.

Note that the usual hardware shift register implementation, which is what we're using (we're merely optimizing it by doing eight-bit chunks at a time) shifts bits into the lowest-order term. In our implementation, that means shifting towards the right. Why do we do it this way? Because the calculated CRC must be transmitted in order from highest-order term to lowest-order term. UARTs transmit characters in order from LSB to MSB. By storing the CRC this way, we hand it to the UART in the order low-byte to high-byte; the UART sends each low-bit to high-bit; and the result is transmission bit by bit from highest- to lowest-order term without requiring any bit shuffling on our part. Reception works similarly.

The feedback terms table consists of 256, 32-bit entries. Notes

The table can be generated at runtime if desired; code to do so is shown later. It might not be obvious, but the feedback terms simply represent the results of eight shift/xor operations for all combinations of data and CRC register values.

The values must be right-shifted by eight bits by the "updcrc" logic; the shift must be unsigned (bring in zeroes). On some hardware you could probably optimize the shift in assembler by using byte-swap instructions.

-- based on mount/losetup.c

Simple library for work with loop devices.

- requires kernel 2.6.x
- reads info from /sys/block/loop<N>/loop/<attr> (new kernels)
- reads info by ioctl
- supports unlimited number of loop devices
- supports /dev/loop<N> as well as /dev/loop/<N>
- minimize overhead (fd, loopinfo, ... are shared for all operations)
- setup (associate device and backing file)
- delete (dis-associate file)
- old LOOP_{SET,GET}_STATUS (32bit) ioctls are unsupported
- extendible

Functions for %oct encoding used in mtab/fstab/swaps/etc.

Based on code from mount(8).

This code implements the MD5 message-digest algorithm.
The algorithm is due to Ron Rivest. This code was written by Colin Plumb in 1993, no copyright is claimed.

This code is in the public domain; do with it what you wish.

Equivalent code is available from RSA Data Security, Inc.
This code has been tested against that, and is equivalent, except that you don't need to include two pages of legalese with every copy.

To compute the message digest of a chunk of bytes, declare an MD5Context structure, pass it to MD5Init, call MD5Update as needed on buffers full of bytes, and then call MD5Final, which will fill a supplied 16-byte array with the digest.

GPLV3('parse-date.c',)

Simple functions to access files. Paths can be globally prefixed to read data from an alternative source (e.g. a /proc dump for regression tests).

The paths is possible to format by printf-like way for functions with "f" postfix in the name (e.g. readf, openf, ... ul_path_readf_u64()).

The ul_path_read_* API is possible to use without path_ext handler. In this case is not possible to use global prefix and printf-like formatting.

No copyright is claimed. This code is in the public domain; do with it what you wish.

DRBD is a blocklevel replication solution in the Linux kernel,

DRBDmanage is a configuration frontend that assists in creating/deleting/modifying DRBD resources across multiple machines

Libfdisk sample to create partitions by specify all required partition properties (partno, start and size). The defaults is only partition type (except MBR where 4th partition is extended).

Libfdisk sample to create partitions by specify size, for example:

mkpart --label dos --device /dev/sdc 2M 2M 2M 10M 1M - creates 6 partitions:

- 3 primary (3x 2M)
- 1 extended (1x 10M)
- 2 logical (1x 1M, 1x remaining-space-in-extended-partition)

Notes:

The sample specifies size and partno for MBR, and size only for another labels (e.g. GPT).

The Ask-API does not use anything else than warning/info. The partitioning has to be done non-interactive.

The test heavily uses shared memory, to enlarge maximal size of shared segment use:

echo "4294967295" > /proc/sys/kernel/shmm
```

The test is compiled against in-tree libuuid, if you want to test uuid installed to the system then make sure that libuuid uses the same socket like the running uuid. You can start the uuid manually, for example:

uuid --debug --no-fork --no-pid --socket /run/uuid/request

if the $runitdir (as defined by build-system) is /run. If you want to overwrite the built-in default then use:

make uuid uuidgen runstatedir=/var/run
```

- added Native Language Support

Semantics:

Setterm writes to standard output a character string that will invoke the specified terminal capabilities. Where possible terminfo is consulted to find the string to use. Some options however do not correspond to a terminfo capability. In this case if the terminal type is "con*", or "linux*" the string that invokes the specified capabilities on the PC Linux virtual console driver is output. Options that are not implemented by the terminal are ignored.

The following options are non-obvious.

- term can be used to override the TERM environment variable.
- reset displays the terminal reset string, which typically resets the terminal to its power on state.

Want to know if GCC stack protector works, both for the C and for the C++ compiler.

Just checking if the compiler accepts the required CFLAGSs is not enough because we have seen at least one instance where this check was insufficient.

Instead, try to compile and link a test program with the stack protector flags. If that works, we use it.
